SELECTED ACCOMPLISHMENTS AS DIRECTOR OF SCHOOL OF CRIMINAL JUSTICE, MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Increased resources to hire faculty and to support graduate programs, both through participating in strategic initiatives in the University and through increasing streams of revenue for the School.

Built and supported strong faculty processes for recruiting, selecting, hiring, and mentoring faculty.

Supported faculty in working within and across the unit so as to accomplish their goals and to enhance the unit.

Developed and supported faculty leadership within the unit.

Worked collaboratively with individuals and units within the university to identify and achieve goals.

Did necessary work that enhanced the unit and protected faculty research and teaching time.

Represented and advocated for the unit both inside and outside the university.

Worked with faculty to identify and then worked to implement new curricular initiatives. Most important, the Ph.D. program was redesigned.
