The School of Criminal Justice (SCJ) is housed in the College of Social Science, a dynamic collection of academic disciplines conducting high quality research and education seeking to address the most pressing local, national and international issues. Founded in 1855, Michigan State University is the pioneer land-grant institution, is one of the top research universities in the world, and is home to a diverse community of dedicated students and scholars, athletes and artists, scientists and leaders. The SCJ has 28 faculty members, including several with joint appointments in academic units and centers across the university. Currently, there are nearly 800 students enrolled in the SCJ’s doctoral, master’s and baccalaureate degree programs. The School's faculty is committed to excellence in research and scholarship befitting a major research university (see the School’s website at: http://cj.msu.edu/).

The candidate should demonstrate expertise in criminology/victimology or criminal justice with a record of research related to cybercrime and/or cyber-security. Cybercrime includes computer hacking, digital piracy, electronic fraud and theft, bullying, stalking, and sexual victimization. Interest in cross-disciplinary research and participating in education programs integrating criminal justice with such disciplines as computer science, engineering, communication arts, business, journalism, sociology, or psychology is an advantage.

Required Qualifications

- Ph.D. in criminology or criminal justice, or in a relevant social science field is required. Candidates must have completed a Ph.D. prior to the position start date.
- Substantive, theoretical, and/or methodological strengths that relate, or are applicable, to addressing cybercrime and/or cyber-security.
- Record of effectiveness in teaching at the undergraduate and/or graduate levels commensurate with rank of appointment.
- Record of scholarly publications commensurate with rank of appointment.
- Record of success in securing extramural funding for research projects commensurate with rank of appointment.

Review of applications will begin October 1, 2018 and continue until the position is filled. All application materials should be submitted electronically to MSU at http://careers.msu.edu. Reference posting #508634. Application materials must include: 1) letter of application that includes a description of candidate’s professional experience, expertise, professional goals, research, and teaching philosophy, and a statement addressing how past and/or potential contributions to diversity/inclusion will advance MSU’s commitment to inclusive excellence, 2) curriculum vitae, and 3) three letters of reference. Inquiries may be directed to the chair of the search committee, Dr. Tom Holt at holtt@msu.edu.

MSU is located in East Lansing, MI, with easy access to the state capital, Lake Michigan, and great school districts. The University is pro-active in exploring opportunities for employment for dual career couples, both inside and outside the University. Information about MSU’s dual career support can be found at http://miwin.msu.edu/

MSU is an affirmative-action, equal-opportunity employer. MSU is committed to achieving excellence through a diverse workforce and inclusive culture that encourages all people to reach their full potential. The University actively encourages applications and/or nominations of women, persons of color, veterans and persons with disabilities.